DIRECTOR'S NOTES

Dear Runners and Walkers,

Here is your race result booklet for last year's race and folk march. An entry form is included to stimulate your training instinct for this year's race and walk, Saturday, May 19, 1990.

There are no changes for this year except Dwayne Berg has retired as senior and original co-director. Paul Selbo will take over his duties, although Dwayne will continue as our data processing and computer expert.

Although there were some minor problems between runners and walkers, both will be using the same course as before. We will be adding additional race marshalls to maintain two abreast only while walking or running.

A reminder that the walk is noncompetitive. If you want an official time or finish position, enter the run. It is only three miles further and there is no rule against walking in the run.

Finally our congratulations to the five who have completed all seventeen races: Paul Croissant, 33, Madison, Peter Senzig, 47, Madison, Bills Kohrs, 63, Madison, Richard Voight, 49, Middleton, Dobbin McNatt, 51, Middleton, and thanks to our volunteers, coordinators, directors, and sponsors.

Allen, Purtell pace Syttende Mai

By Rob Hernandez

STOUGHTON — Had this not been the Syttende Mai Run, Dave Allen of Madison might have trotted into a festive Mandt Park on Saturday morning thinking he was in the neighborhood of Fenway Park in Boston.

Had Allen not seen women wearing Norwegian outfits as he trotted past the bakery on Main Street, he might have sworn this was the Boston Marathon all over again.

Overcast skies. Shortness of breath. Sore legs. And Mark Meyers.

Oops, one problem. No Meyers. Allen had recorded a record-tying third Syttende Mai victory and Meyers had yet to pass the A&W along the main drag.

The clock at the finish line of this 20-mile, Madison-to-Stoughton jaunt showed this to be the most one-sided Syttende Mai of the decade. Allen's winning time of 1 hour, 42 minutes and 58 seconds was a whopping 8:11 faster than Meyers, 26, of Milwaukee.

"He killed me today," Meyers said. "He took control of the race at about a mile-and-a-half and I was pretty sure he was going to have a good one."

A month ago, however, the running shoe was on the other foot.

At the Boston Marathon — that 26 mile, 385-yard granddaddy of 'em all — Meyers finished about 1 minute ahead Allen to earn the honor of top finish by a Wisconsin runner.

The results of Saturday's rematch had nothing to do with the Syttende Mai being a short course.

"I think being a little bit more familiar with the course is an advantage," said Allen, 33, who won back-to-back titles in 1984 and 1985. "You hear about how tough it is so the tendency is to hold way back."

Maybe. Yet, Meyers had run the race before — "but I won't admit to it."

OK, so last year's time of 2:10:12 didn't exactly make Meyers the obvious choice to challenge. But the course was to his liking.

"I'm better on hills," Meyers said. "If it's a tight pack, I'll work the uphill because I'm strong on them and try to break people down psychologically."

This was anything but a tight pack. At the pace Allen was setting, Meyers felt fortunate to be in the same area code as his rival.

At the 4-mile mark, Allen had a 1:30 lead. At the 10-mile mark, he had increased it to 3:45.

"I decided then that second was good enough for me today," said Meyers, who crossed the finish line 1:05 ahead of Whitewater runner David Fisher.

William Wilkey of Madison, a perennial top 10 finisher, was there again. He placed fourth in 1:52:40.

With victory in hand, Allen — still feeling the effects of his Boston run — decided to ease up.

"I could feel the marathon in my legs today," Allen said. "I didn't have a chance to warm up so I went out pretty easy. I got pretty tight in the calves toward the middle of the race so I had to back off a little bit."

Allen's time was about 3.5 minutes better than his runner-up effort of a year ago, but 38 seconds slower than his winning effort of 1985. The clocking was also 2.5 minutes shy of Jim Ingold's 1983 record of 1:40:20.

"If there is any record that's going to stand for a long, long time, it's the record on this course," said Allen, who joins Ingold and Tom Antczak as three-time champions.

"We had a cool, dry day that year," he said. "I took about 23 minutes off my best time and I ran the race in gym shoes. There was something peculiar about that day and on top of it, Ingold ran an incredible race."

If there was an eye-catching effort turned in Saturday, it was likely the product of Jocelyn Purtell — the women's champion who lives in Winnetka, Ill.

Her time of 2:09:07 was more than 7 minutes faster than her 1988 effort and 5 minutes faster than runner-up Monica Theis of Middleton.

"I had no intention of winning," Purtell said. "I was just going to see how I felt when I got out there. And I loved it."

And it showed.

Purtell, 25, a former St. Norbert College athlete, assumed the lead at about the 10-mile mark. Five miles later, however, she started to feel somewhat uneasy.

"It was really humid out there," Purtell said. "It wasn't that hot and there was a little bit of a wind, but the humidity just kills you."

A total of 1,093 runners — of all abilities and handicaps — completed the 20-mile course which started amid the bustle of the Farmer's Market on Madison's Capitol Square.

The most inspirational effort of the day belonged to Jack Wallace, a Muskego resident confined to a wheelchair.

Wallace, a veteran of these events, was the 17th person to cross the finish line, his blackened gloves showing the sign of 1:59:18 spent negotiating the demanding course.

Make a run to Stoughton

The number of runners circling Madison's lakes is multiplying like dandelions as they prepare for the 17th annual Syttende Mai Run, a grueling 20-mile race from Madison to Stoughton.

The run, which draws some of the best runners in the Midwest, is Saturday. It starts at the Capitol Square at 8 a.m.

In the first year of this race, few women entered. Those who did were not allowed to run more than seven miles. My, how times have changed.

I have run the hilly 20-mile course four consecutive years and am pleased to report that I have had plenty of female company.

This year, about 1,100 runners are expected. One of every four will be female, according to the race director Ed Hutchins.

An accompanying 17-mile walk has about 600 entries. Three of every four are women.

The winning time on the run for women has dropped by 26 minutes over the years. In 1980 Lorraine Moller, a New Zealand native from Minneapolis, placed 19th overall and set the women's world record for 20 miles (1:55.36) on this course.

Most women running the race don't have such lofty goals. Most like me, are in the 30 to 39 age range. We grew up before the era of women's sports. In fact, my all-girl Catholic high school discouraged us from sweating in gym class.

For many of us, running is our first taste of athletic competition. That competition might be strictly with ourselves. We want to just finish the race and earn the T-shirt. There are some who are out to beat last year's time, and some are out to beat the competition.

Regardless of the goal, running Syttende Mai takes a big training commitment. Months before race day runners are out in the cold, wind, snow and rain putting in their miles.

Training for Syttende Mai was the first real physical goal I had ever set for myself, not counting getting through labor and delivery three times. On days when my legs begged for relief, or when child care was hard to find, it was that goal that made it easier to close the door behind me and get on with the next training run.

Training with others is another incentive. Camaraderie develops that is hard to duplicate. It's important to share training schedules, race strategies, setbacks and victories with other runners.

Some first-time women runners are lucky to be part of a training legacy. My friend, Jan Zimmerman, helped me train. I, in turn, helped Andrea Urbon train for her first run.

This race has opened my eyes to the capabilities of women of all ages. The 50-54 age group record time is faster than I could ever think of running. Knowing how busy and complex our lives are today, it is remarkable how many people make fitness a priority.

Marriages can be affected by the kind of commitment long-distance running demands. I don't know which marriages have the most stress - those in which both spouses train, are exhausted and half-obsessed, or those in which one runs and the other is baffled.

Anticipation and excitement builds in runners who surround the Capitol before the race. That energy begins to be released at the sound of the starting gun. I hope to have enough of it left the last half-hour of my three-hour run.

There are at least 20 hills on the course. At 16 miles, you feel you should be in Denver by now. I think the scenery is beautiful, but I know the cracks in the road better.

The cheering celebrants of the town are always a welcome sight. The hill on Main Street is not. Nothing is more welcome than the finish line and the boxes of T-shirts. My goal during one Syttende Mai race became being coherent enough to remember the size of T-shirt I needed.

But there's nothing quite like the feeling of pride you get when you finish. If I had the energy I would raise my fist in celebration and shout, "I did it!"

Instead, I've crossed the finish line to hear my youngest crying, "Mommy," and the other two are clamoring for lunch. My husband, Tim, has run his fastest time but is resting in the medical tent.

I don't sit down for an hour. I begin to contemplate turning around and running back to Madison. I know for a fact it's downhill. And I'd have a great shirt to wear.

MEDICAL SELF-CARE FOR BEGINNING RUNNERS

Training and Preparation: You should be able to run at least 10 miles at 10-12 minutes per mile pace to finish this race. Try to train 40 miles per week for 4 weeks before this race. If you eat before the race, eat a light breakfast at least 3 hours before the starting time. Drink about 8 oz. of fluid 1 hour before. Start warming up — stretching and jogging — about 30 minutes before the run.

Temperature is a critical factor. Significant heat injury may occur at all temperatures but particularly above 60°F. Above 60°F, wear only light athletic clothing, (shorts, T-shirt, or tank top). As the temperature increases above 60°F, your pace per mile should be reduced. For example, at 80°F beginning runners should run at least 1 minute per mile slower.

Fluid Replacement is essential to keep up with sweat losses. The average size male 140–160 pounds may lose 1.5 to 2.0 liters (quarts) of sweat per hour. Drink 6–8 oz. of fluid at each aid station. Stop to drink. Even at this rate, you may only replace 50% of sweat loss.

Problems during the Run may include muscle cramps, joint pains, blisters, fatigue. Heat symptoms are most dangerous — they are headache, dizziness, disorientation, nausea, decrease in sweat rate, pale cold skin. Do not attempt to “run through” these symptoms. Stop, walk or rest. Ask for help.

After Running. At the finish, you may experience a period of dizziness or faintness due to a fall in blood pressure. This may be prevented if you keep moving. But if symptoms develop, lie down, raise your legs and call for help.

Chronic Medical Problems. If you have medical problems such as asthma, diabetes, hypertension, or other cardiovascular problems, check with your physician before entering. Wear a “Medic Alert” tag and I.D.

Remember — Running Is Fun. But it can also be stressful. Listen to your body. Walk when you are tired. There is always another race.
